

Candie Taylor is a native of Danville, Virginia. She has dedicated her life to serving God in many capacities. After graduating from high school she received her Bachelor of Arts in English Literature from Saint Leo University and has earned a Masters in Science Education – Biology, through Western Governors University. She has taught in both Christian and public schools, as well as served on numerous boards and committees both in the realm of education and in the church. She is a warm, humorous and talented speaker. She currently serves as State Girl's Ministries Coordinator for the Church of God in Eastern North Carolina. She is married to Rob Taylor and is the proud mother of two sons, Evan and Jordan.